CYB Students Attend an Educational Conference in Alaska

Written by Samuel Toledo and Chaya Castiano

From October 14th through the 19th, five students, two from Charlie Y. Brown and three from Bloomfield High School, traveled to Anchorage, Alaska. During our week there, we attended the National Indian Education Association conference; in the conference, we learned that everyone should have an equal opportunity to an education. Some of the sessions that we went to talked about how teachers and parents can work together to help students that are having a hard time in school with their work.

Students also attended a session focused on Financial Aid and other scholarships for college. Colleges also came to the conference to tell students and teachers about their schools. We had the opportunity to meet people from different cultures throughout the Indian Nation. Some people were from Canada and others were from Hawaii. There was also a Pow Wow where all the Native Americans performed. On our free time, we went sightseeing, visited all the gift shops, a haunted house, and a monument for Captain James Cook. The trip itself was educational; yet, it was a wonderful once in a lifetime experience.
